WILLARD FACES MURDER CHARGE

Released From the Asylum and Arrested on Charge of Murder.

Last Friday morning Judge Burnett, of Santa Rosa, heard the testimony of Frank Willard, who was trying to get out of the sylum on habeas corpus proceedings. The examination took two hours of time. Willard talked as sane as anybody and went over his life's history very accurately. He testified to items of fact that had occurred recently in this and Sonoma counties and made a good witeness. He told of the proceedings that occurred the morning that Sheriff Smith was killed, described the chase, and what happened afterwards, but his mind was a blank when the shooting of the Sheriff was mentioned. Judge Burnett granted the writ and Willard was given his liberty for a few moments, and was arrested for the crime of murder and locked up in jail. Willard's testimony in these proceedings will go a long ways toward putting his head in the noose. District Attorney Duncan will vigorously prosecute the case. Judge Burnett appointed C. M. Mannon and T. L. Carothers to defend Willard.

Published the Record

One of our exchanges takes the Dispatch to task for an alleged error in the list of bills published, showing the cost of repairing the Eel River bridge under the direction of Supervisor Fairbanks.

The Dispatch made no error in publishing the list. We simply published the record as shown by the books in the Auditor's office, and that record still stands on the books. If there be an error in the records, the Dispatch is not to blame, and we have no apology to make. It is from the Auditor's books that the financial statement is made each year, and these books are always accepted as correct. It is simply a question as to which is correct—the Auditor's records or Supervisor Fairbanks.

COMMERCIAL BANK DECLARES DIVIDEND

The stockholders of the Commercial Bank of Ukiah met last Monday and elected the following directors for the ensuing year: W. W. Van Arsdale, John I. Cunningham, R. E. Donohoe, H. B. Muir and W. P. Thomas.

The directors met and elected W. P. Thomas, President, and P. Connolly, Secretary and Cashier. A dividend of $10 per share was declared. All capital stock has now been fully paid up. The bank will begin the erection of their new building early in the spring. It will be erected on the site where the old building stands, now being occupied by the Guarantee Abstract Company, and will be a handsome two-story structure.

Meeting of Asylum Directors

The board of asylum directors met last Saturday for the transaction of the usual routine business. A. B. Truman was elected president of the board vice A. Hochheimer, term expired. Geo. D. Clark the new member was present.

Increase in State School Money

State Supt. Kirk has apportinted the State School fund and Mendocino County gets $47,142.46 as against $34,794.43 last. The increase is due to a change in the law of apportioning state school moneys as the following letter explains:

Sacramento, January 6—Dear Senator Sanford:—Mendocino County has no kick coming to you for your help in passing the law for new method of apportioning the state school fund. See the enclosed slip of last January (1905) on which I have marked the county apportionment made on the 4th inst an increase of $12398.03, and this notwithstanding the fact that the total of the state fund of all the counties (owing I am told to large delinquent state tax) was $75,000 less this January than last. The July apportionment, the other apportionment for this year, will show a corresponding increase and your county's total advantage under the new rule may reach $16,000. A country county with numerous rural districts to maintain is greatly helped under the new law.

I trust Mendocino will not do as opponents of the law predict—reduce the county school money by reason of so much help from the state.

Cordially Yours,
THOMAS J. KIRK.

Will Not Locate in Mendocino

Dr. C. H. Smith is not planning to leave Cloverdale and practice his profession, that of dentistry, at Mendocino. The report that he was arranging to locate at Mendocino while on a visit there last week is an error. He will continue to reside in Cloverdale and will soon commence the erection of a modern cement block building on his lot on upper West street, where he will have his office and residence.—Cloverdale Reveille.

Death of Miss Haines.

Rebecca Haines, an aunt of the late S. M. Haines, died at the home of Mrs. Belle Haines last Saturday at the age of 86 years. She had been a resident of Ukiah many years. The funeral took place Sunday afternoon.

RAILROAD MAGNATES VISITED UKIAH

A party of San Francisco capitalists interested in the projected Napa and Clear Lake electric railroad arrived in Ukiah Wednesday in a large tally-ho coach, drawn by six horses. After lunching at the Cecille the party took the 1:30 train for the city.

Nearly all of the men are directors of the railroad company and their arrival here was the end of a trip over the route of the proposed road to Lakeport, and as they desired to see this section of the country and reach the city as quickly as possible they came by way of Ukiah. Their visit here is presumed to have no special significance otherwise. Tuesday night the railroad promoters spent at Witter springs, where they were banqueted in a royal manner.

Among the party were R. M. Hotaling, C. K. Field, J. H. Bishop, J. Austin Wilder, D D Sales, George W. Mastick, W. M. Rank and N. J. Tobias. A. H. Spurr, formerly of the Palace hotel, accompanoid them over from Lakeport and returned with the coach and driver yesterday.

Mr. Hotaling recently purchased a portion of the famous Buckingham park on Clear Lake paying $18,000 therefor. In addition he purchased Paradise valley, near the Floyd place and opposite Buckingham park, at a cost of $25,000.

AROUND THE COURT HOUSE

The money in the county treasury as counted by Charman Lane, and District Attorney Duncan and Auditor Caughey amounts to $162,394.87, divided as follows: Gold $93,760; silver 242.80; currency 355; copper .02; cetificates of deposit 65,000; controller's warrants 20; stamps 17.05.

Charles Underhill, of Sherwood, was appointed a health officer Thursday by County Physician Hogshead.

A civil case from Fort Bragg occupied the attention of the superior court Tuesday and Wednesday. Suit was brought for the dissolution of the partnership of Nanninen & Lappinen, owners of a tannery near Fort Bragg. Some eight or ten witnesses were in attendance.

Notice to Masons.

The installation of officers of Abell Lodge, No. 146, F. & A. M. will be held Saturday evenieg, January 20th. All Masons in good standing are cordially invited to be present, and each is privileged to invite one lady. T. M. Cleland, W. M.

GRAND JURY MAKES REPORT

Same Old Recommendations Will Receive Same Attention

The grand jury made its report last Friday afternoon. The report differs from most reports in that it praises no one for doing his duty and only mentions those who are criticised for not performing their work properly.

It is recommended that those having relatives in the county hospital should pay for the maintenance of same.

Clerk urged not to allow papers to be taken from his office without securing a receipt therefor.

Board of supervisors censured for not conforming to law in expending county money for road work, and constructing and repairing pridges.

The report of the experts, appointed to examine the books of the board of Supervisors was appended to the grand jury report. The experts found many clreical errors in the bills passed by the board.

The District Attorney was instructed to bring suits against the Empire Redwood Co. for $125.09, being an illegal claim against county. The claim was not filed within one year of the date of the last item on the bill. Suit was also ordered brought aaginst L. E. White Company for $3.50.

The experts recommended a closer inspection of printing bills.

The Incorporators

The names of the incorporaters of the Mendocino Lumber Company are C. E. Wilson, L. Tashier, T. A. Perkins, J. E. Polhemus, L. Perry, R. A. Pabst and A. Strong Jr. The capital stock has been placed at $1,000,000 divided into shares of $100 each. C. R. Johnson of the Union Lumber Company, was given the presidency of the new company.—Beacon.

SUPERVISORS IN SESSION

Clerk ordered to advertise for bids for wood for Court House, high school and county farm. Bids to be received February 6th.

Clerk ordered to prepare schedule of supplies needed by various county officers and at the county farm and advertise for bids for same. Bids to be received February 6th.

District Attorney oredered to begin Suit against Healey, Tibbits & Company to recover damages county sustained by faulty construction of repairs on Eel River bridge last year.

Ordinances fixing road poll tax for year 1906 at $3 per head on every male citizen between twenty-one and fifty-five years of age passed by the following vote: Ayes—Lawson, Gibson, Fairbanks. Noes—Barnard, Lane.

The hospital tax was fixed at $1.00 per head on each male person between twenty-one and sixty years of age.

Supervisor Fairbanks authorized to advertise and sell all materials left over from repairing the Eel River bridge, the proceeds to be placed to credit of county general fund No. 3.

B. L. Cleland and C. W. Mathews appointed to expert the books of the various county officials until further order of board.

Dr. J. S. Hogshead appointed Health officer of the county and requested to make a report to the board every three months.

Petition for appointment of Horticultural Commissioner laid over till February meeting.

Ukiah voting precinct No. 1 having more than 400 votes was changed as follows:

All of Ukiah city North of Perkins street and West of State Street shall be known as Ukiah Precinct No 1.

All of Ukiah North of Perkins Street and East of State Street shall be known as Ukiah Precinct No. 3.

All of Ukiah South of Perkins Street, as heretofore established, shall be known as Ukiah Precinct No. 2.

TO ORGANIZE PUBLIC LIBRARY

Repsentative of The State Library Makes Visit to Ukiah

Miss A. B. Kumli, public library organizer representing the California State Library, has been in Ukiah several days endeavoring to interest our people in a public library. Miss Kumli reports that she finds almost everybody here in favor of a public library, and while her visit may not result in the immediate establishment of that highly necessary adjunct of a civilized community, she is is hopeful that it is a matter that will not be long deferred. She was very much surprised that a city of Ukiah's size and enterprise should be without a public library and she has succeeded in interesting a number of our people who will set the necessary machinery in motion to secure this desirable public convenience.

From her we learn what other towns of our size are doing in this respect, also the necessary steps to be taken to secure a library.

A petition containing the signatures of one fourth of the electors of the city and presented to the city trustees is the initial step in the establishment of a public library. An ordinance is then adopted by the trustees, and they levy a tax for the maintenance of the library. The law provides that a levy not to exceed two milis on the dollar may be levied for library purposes.

Almost every town in California of the size of Ukiah and over thirty towns much smaller support public libraries. Since November 20th, 1905, preliminary steps have been taken to establish public libraries in Placerville, Auburn, Rocklin, Gilroy Salinas and Pacific Grove. At Placerville the petition has been presented to the city trustees and the ordinance read; at Auburn the petition will be presented at the next next meeting; at Rocklin the petition has been presented and the ordinance has been given its first reading; at Gilroy the ordinance was passed December 11th, 1905; at Salinas the ordinance was passed and the library trustees named December 18th, 1905; at Pacific Grove the library trustees were named and a librarian has been appointed. The library of to-day is the university of the people, serving the present and quietly developing the civilization of the future. The mission of the public library is largely to that ninety per cent of the people whose formal education ends with the grammar school.

DEATH OF A FAVORITE

Yorkville, January 9—Marion E. Hale, a young boy of sixteen years eleven months of age, died at the home of R. C. Burger Wednesday night December 27th, 1905. He suffered from an abscess on the brain and was sick but three days. Before his sickness he was working at the Ornbaun valley saw mill. And on the Saturday before Christmas he came to Mr. Burger's to spend his Christmas. Sunday night he was taken sick; he kept getting worse and Tuesday he became unconscious. The family doctor was summoned, but he seemed to give him no relief. And Wednesday night he passed away after intense suffering. He leaves one brother, five sisters and a heart-broken mother and scores of friends to mourn his departure. His father died about a year ago. His remains were taken to Cloverdale and laid to rest at the Riverside cemetery.

Dear Marion, thou art gone to rest,
Thy toils and cares are o'er,
And sorrow pain and suffering now,
Shall ne'er distress thee more.
Lone is the house and sad the hour,
Since our dear one is gone,
But Oh! a brighter home than ours
In heaven is now his own.

BUSINESS HOUSES CHANGE HANDS

Ukiah Mercantile Company Sells and Mr. Gracey Buys Stable

George W. Gracey, of Fort Bragg has purchased the livery stable business formerly owned by the late J. H. Smith. The deal was consummated Tuesday and Mr. Gracey took charge Wednesday morning. In addition to the stock, vehicles and other property belonging to the business, Mr. Gracey also purchased the premises occupied by the stable, which was owned by Oakland parties. The price paid for the livery business is said to have been $7,000, while it is reported that $15,000 is the figure at which the real estate and improvements changed hands.

While Mr. Gracey was in Oakland closing up the deal a Stockton man rushed into the owner's office to buy the property. Upon learning that he was half an hour late he offered Mr. Gracey $18,000 for the stable and offered to take the stock at the price paid by Mr. Gracey. Mr. Gracey declined but the incident very naturally made him feel better satisfied than ever with his purchase. The lot extends through from State to School street, and includes the southwest corner of the block as well the Frost & Redwine saloon proprety.

Mr. Gracey is acknowledged a keen business man and will undoubtedly make as great a success of the Fashion stables as the late proprietor achieved. He has a wide acquaintance over the county and Ukiah bids him a hearty welcome to our business circles. He has installed Alex Beggs, also of Fort Bragg, as general manager, which will please all patrons of the stables. Alex not only knows all there is to be known about horses but he is also one of the most genial and accommodating persons in the county. Mr. Gracey is fortunate in his selection.

MERCANTILE CO. HAS SOLD OUT

The Ukiah Mercantile Company, furniture dealers and undertakers, has disposed of its business to Hutchinson & Roeder and J. W. Evers. The deal was closed this week and the elegant stock of the Mercantile Company will presumably be divided between the two purchasers.

The Mercantile Company is composed of local capitalists and it has been in business five or six years. No reason is given for the retirement from business. It has not yet been announced who will occupy the premises now occupied by the company, but it is understood several are after the choice location.

Surprise Party

A surprise was given Mrs. John W. Campbell Thursday the 4th, being Mrs. Campbell's 69th birthday. It was so nicely planned that they were all in the house and standing around the room when Mrs. Campbell came in, being told by her grand-son that there was a gentleman in the parlor who wanted to see her. Imagine her suprprise to see fifteen friends around the room. "Happy New Year" was the greeting she gave them all.

They were, Mr. and Mrs. [illegible] and daughter Lillie, Mr. [illegible] Huff and daughter Enoli, Mr. and Mrs. Rodwick and son, Mr. and [illegible] Nuton, Mrs. Buckle and [illegible] Owen and Elsie her eldest [illegible] Mrs. McCracken of Redwood [illegible] Mrs. Campbell's daughter [illegible] grand son from Everett, Wash. Wordsworth's "Joke."

A rare old book, called "The Living Authors of England," published in 1849, commences with a study of Wordsworth, in which is recorded what is said to be the only joke the poet ever made. At a friend's house after dinner, it appears, the conversation turned upon wit and humor. Thomas Moore, who was present, told some anecdotes of Sheridan, whereupon Wordsworth observed that he did not consider himself a witty poet. "Indeed," he said, "I do not think I was ever witty but once in my life."

Being pressed to tell the company what this special drollery was, the poet said, with some hesitation: "Well, I will tell you. I was standing some time ago at the entrance of my cottage at Rydal Mount when a man accosted me with the question, 'Pray, sir, have you seen my wife pass by?' whereupon I answered, 'Why, my good friend, I didn't know till this moment that you had a wife!'"

The company stared and upon realizing that this was all there was to the poet's joke burst into a roar of laughter, which Wordsworth smilingly accepted as a genuine compliment to the brilliancy of his wit.—Harper's Weekly.

He Had References.

In her book "A Southern Girl In '61" Mrs. D. Giraud Wright tells a capital story about General John C. Breckinridge of Kentucky. He was invited by a certain lady of rank in London to luncheon. The lady had just advertised for a footman. Mistaking the hour, General Breckinridge reached the house before the appointed time and by some accident was ushered into Lady Blank's presence without being announced. The day was in June. Owing to the heat the blinds were drawn, letting in subdued light. Lady Blank, glancing at the advancing figure, to the astonishment of the visitor, greeted him thus: "Have you a reference from your last place?" The general took in the situation instantly and, with a twinkle in his eye, unobserved by the hostess, answered respectfully, "Yes, my lady." "What were your duties?" was the next query. "Well, my lady, in the last three places I held I was vice president of the United States, major general in the Confederate army and secretary of war of the Confederate States of America."

When Lincoln Had Few Friends.

In 1864 Lincoln was of all men the least commended by the Republicans in congress. On one occasion an editor visiting Washington asked Senator Thaddeus Stevens to introduce him to some members of congress who were favorable to Lincoln's re-election. Stevens led him to the desk of Mr. Arnold of Illinois. "There," said he, "is the only Lincoln member of congress that I know!" Stevens himself regarded Lincoln as incompetent and weak. Henry Wilson (afterward vice president) spoke of him as politically a failure. Greeley had a low opinion of his ability. His personal friends, such as Washburn, Raymond and Thurlow Weed, believed his re-election an impossibility. Even Lincoln himself at one time doubted it.—H. T. Peck in Bookman.

The Lord's Prayer.

The question having arisen as to whether the English version of the Lord's Prayer is a true reproduction of the original as found in Matthew, a native Greek scholar proceeds to answer it. He deals with the petitions in order, translates each word with all the shades of meaning of the original and then presents the whole in this form:

"Our Father which art in heaven, hallowed be thy name—thy dominion come—thy (fixed) purpose be done, as in heaven, so, too, on earth. Give us this day our mere (or simple) bread and forgive us our debts as we forgive our debtors theirs, and let us not fall into a tempter's snare, but deliver us from the evil one."

Very Lively.

A London paper relates that a crowd of sightseers scurrying across the road from the Strand caused a partial block in the traffic. The lagging of a particularly pompous old gentleman roused the ire of a held up cabby. "Now, then, hurry up there, can't yer?" he shouted.

"Am I not hurrying, cabman?" was the mild expostulation.

"'Urryin'?" snorted cabby, with a flick of his whip. "You're a-jumpin' about like a bit o' stickin' plaster!"

A Diplomatic Answer.

Admiral Drake when a lad at the beginning of his first engagement was observed to shake and tremble very much and, being rallied upon it, observed with a presence of mind, or, at all events, of humor, in which even Nelson was lacking, "My flesh trembles at the anticipation of the many and great dangers into which my resolute and undaunted head will lead me."

First Treaty of Portsmouth.

The first treaty of Portsmouth, N. H., was signed July 11, 1713, the contracting parties being belligerent Indians and the whites. The news of the treaty of Utrecht, which ended Queen Anne's war, reached the city Oct. 29, 1712. The Indians desired a treaty, and it was formally signed on the above date.

Learning a Lesson.

Judge—You are charged with assault and battery. What have you to say? Prisoner—Not a word, yeronner. It was sayin' too much got me into this scrape.

Quite a Feat.

Judge—Who bit your ear off? Mrs. Black (wishing to protect her husband)—I—I did it mahself.—Exchange.

An obstinate man does not hold opinions—they hold him.—Butler.

The lodge convened at 7:30 o'clock P. M. and the officers who will ably conduct the affairs of the court for the ensuing year were duly installed by Deputy High Chief Ranger A. F. Whittaker as follows: C. R. James Eddy; S. C. R. David Coble; financial secretary N. A. Barnett; recording secretary E. E. Holbrook; treasurer Charles Whittaker; Sr. Woodward S. H. Busch, Junior Woodward Pat Murphy; senior Beadle, Frank McKee; junior woodward A. P. Bevans.

At the conclusion of the installation ceremonies the lodge adjourned its session and the invited guests were admitted to the hall which presented a very attractive appearance having been artistically decorated with an abundance of beautiful green ferns and bright scarlet California holly berries. The platform occupied by the orchestra had been converted into a bower of beauty by the tasteful arrangement of a wreath of the graceful green ferns and the brilliantly contrasting Christmas berries. On the wall space across the front of the hall were arranged the emblem of the order woven in the greens and reds of ferns and berries.

Dancing afforded the evening amusement, and the Potter Valley orchestra, of which E. Coble is leader, S. H. Busch cornetist and Belle Busch pianist, discoursed the most excellent music which was thoroughly appreciated by the dancers and other auditors.

The dancing continued until 10:30 o'clock P. M. when the company repaired to the hotel where they were cordially received by Mr. and Mrs. Hill and directed to the dining room. They found this room to be charmingly beautified by a skillful arrangement of bunting, ferns, mistletoe, and Christmas berries. The merry makers seated themselves around the long snow-white tables which were daintily decorated and laden with the very best that this land of fruit and sunshine produces. All were served with samples of California's best vintages, and each delicate meat, dainty salad, and delicious cake, confection and fruit bespoke the skill and thought with which the repast had been planned and which were supervised by Mrs. Hill, and sincere were the many compliments she received. Miss Jennie Deselm, becomingly attired in white, deftly assisted in serving the guests with the palatable edibles that had been prepared for them. The fine banquets which Mr. Hill has given have established his reputation as a first class caterer.

Glancing down the long tables one could not fail to be impressed with the fact that those who wore the insignia of the order were all young men of high moral and financial standing who are destined to rise to positions of prominence and honor as our section of the country improves and develops. Although never great in point of numbers, yet Court San Hedrin has always retained among its members many of the very best young men of the valley thus creating for itself the reputation of being one of the most exclusive social and fraternal organizations of this place. After all the true test of the strength of an order is not always in numbers but often in the true worth of its members. Our best wishes for Court San Hedrin is that it may continue to advance in the future as it has in the past, slowly but surely building solidly on the firm foundation of the good character of its individual members. The young men of this valley can make no mistake in uniting with this organization, as the lessons of morality and charity inculcated in the lodge room have been of great benefit to man, ofter acting as a light to illumine the path and thus to keep the stumbling feet from straying from the straight and narrow way.

HAPPENINGS AT HOPLAND TOWN

Hopland, Jan. 8th—Perry Utter was shaking hands with old friends here Saturday. He stopped here a few hours while on his way to Lakeport where he is employed as principal of the grammar school.

H. T. Barker returned to his home in Visalia after visiting a couple of weeks with his parents.

Mrs. Hood and Mrs. Hill of Fountain were in town on a business trip last Saturday.

A force of painters are at work this week over at A. W. Fosters place.

Tourist travel into Lake County was very heavy last Saturday. W. D. Keyser sent out the regular coach and two extra rigs, and Miller and Howard sent one large coach.

Chas. Crawford and wife, of Largo, passed thru town Sunday morning.

Rev. Hood conducted services at the christian here last Sunday.

Tom Binkley was on our streets the early part of this week.

While riding home from town last Sunday afternoon, Mr. Henry Barker collided buggies with Frank Guirand, resulting in a few slight injuries to the former, while the latter escaped unhurt. Unfortunate as it is, Frank's eyesight is very poorly and he did not see the other rig approaching, altho Mr. Barker shouted to him to pull to the other side of the road. The collision soon followed. One front wheel of each buggy met and interlocked, causing a sudden jolt, Mr. Barker was pitched foreward striking full force against one wheel and then fell to the ground where he remained until aid from town reached him. He was placed in Frank's buggy and Thos. Armstrong, Henry Harrington and Frank Duncan took him home. Dr. Sullivan soon arrived and found the injuries to be nothing more serious than bruises. At last reports he was resting easy.

Mrs. Barker is away at present, having gone to Visalia with her son.

C. Davies and family made their departure for the southern part of the state last Tuesday. Many will no doubt regret the loss of such friendly neighbors.

Mrs. L. Lea, formerly Miss Olllie Vassar of this place, is over from Lake county paying a few days visit to her parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Vassar. I SEE.

NORTHERN MENDOCINO

Covelo, January 8— Postmaster Cummins has been out of postal money supplies for several weeks. Besides being a great inconvenience to the public it has also lessened the postmaster's salary. It is hoped that the new supplies will soon arive.

Captain Selfridge, of Willits, and his brother have been in this vicinity recently hunting for big game. The band of hunters had a good time to say the least.

Cal Tinker, an Indian Inspector, has been here looking after reservation business.

Wylie and Lou English have returned from Ukiah, where they had gone with a large drove of hogs. They report getting a good price for their porkers.

Miss Ethel Riffe, who went to the city to have her eyes treated, has returned much improved.

Ed Gibson and J. H. Woodward drove a band of cattle over to the coast recently, and disposed of them at a good figure.

Some nine babies came to bless as many homes during the yuletide season. The last two were to Mrs. Seymour Brush, a daughter and to Mrs. Roy Dunlap, a son.

Feed on the ranges is very scarce and stockmen are now feeding their poorest cattle. Farmers generally predict a hard winter, and hard times locally, as a consequence.

Your Town

How to Help.

Talk about it.
Write about it.
Beautify the streets.
Be friendly to everybody.
Keep your sidewalks in good repair.
Sell all you can and buy all you can at home.
If you are rich invest in something; employ somebody.
Be courteous to strangers that come among you, so they will go away with good impressions.
Always cheer on the men who go in for improvements. Your portion of the costs will be nothing
Don't kick any proposed improvements because it is not at your own door or fear that your taxes will be raised fifty cents.

How to Hurt.

Oppose improvements.
Mistrust its public men.
Run it down to strangers.
Go to some other town to trade.
Refuse to advertise in your home paper.
Do not advertise a cent. Lay your money out somewhere else.
Be careful to discredit the motives of public spirited men.
Lengthen your face when a stranger talks of locating in your town.
If a man wants to buy your property charge him two prices for it.
If he wants anybody else's interfere and discourage him.
Refuse to see merit in any scheme which does not directly benefit you.—Ex.

Motto for 1906

Better to strive and climb
And never reach the goal,
Than to drift along with time—
An aimless, worthless soul;
Ay, better to climb and fail,
Or sow tho the yield be small,
Than to throw away, day after day,
And never strive at all.

Rossini and Meyerbeer.

Rossini, walking one day on the boulevard with the musician Braga, was greeted by Meyerbeer, who anxiously inquired after the health of his dear Rossini. "Bad, very bad," answered the latter. "A headache, a side ache and a leg I can scarcely move." After a few moments' conversation Meyerbeer passed on, and Braga asked the great composer how it was he had suddenly become so unwell. Smilingly Rossini reassured his friend: "Oh, I couldn't be better. I only wanted to please Meyerbeer. He would be so glad to see me smash up."

The Moba In Servia.

Servian peasants help each other by means of an institution known as the moba. A man who has not hands sufficient to plow or reap his farm calls in the moba—that is to say, invites all his neighbors to come and help him. He pays nothing for this service, providing only generous supplies of food and drink; but when any of them apply for the moba it is understood that he will take his turn.

MIDDLE COAST HAPPENINGS

Mendocino, January 9—John Flanagan has returned from the county seat where he was attending the grand jury. He reports everything quiet in the valleys.

The Presbyterian and Baptist churches are observing the week of prayer this week.

Frank R. Bequette, a printer in the Beacon office, spent the holidays in the city. He arrived in the city in time to be at the death bed of his daughter and new born babe.

The old land mark at the corner of Main and Kasten streets has been torn down to make room for the Bank of Commerce's new building, which is to be erected shortly.

T. H. Hall, a lumber and timber inspector, was here last week and purchased several thousand ties and contracted for more.

George A. Daniels has purchased Mr. Switzer's interest in the Switzer & Boyd livery stable.

The new company assumed charge of the Mendocino lumber company on the first of the year.

A. E. Johnson and bride (nee Charlotte Gray) were given a serenade and reception upon their return from their honeymoon last week. The students of the M. H. S. presented Mr. Johnson and wife a piece of beautiful silverware.

Delaware's Hundreds.

In the days when the Saxons dominated England prior to the coming of William of Normandy the people were formed into divisions of hundreds. This was done mainly for military purposes and the convenience of assembly upon the summons of the powerful earls and barons to whom the people owed allegiance. These hundreds usually consisted of ten families, each family being computed at a minimum of ten persons. In time the families increased in membership, but did not lose their individual identity or change the designation of organization. In the natural order of events these hundreds expanded into communities and ultimately into geographical divisions and took on geographical designations. Some of the American colonists adopted this form of geographical division, and thus we still have hundreds in Delaware and Virginia, although in the latter state that form of designation is but seldom used. But in Delaware hundred is universally used to describe the divisions of a county and is equivalent to the township in other states.

The Last Long Sleep.

Familiarity with death is apt to alter one's earliest conceptions of it. Two ideas are very generally accepted which experience shows to be false. One is that the dying usually fear death and the other that the act of dying is accompanied by pain. It is well known to all physicians that when death is near its terrors do not seem to be felt by the patient. Unless the imagination is stimulated by the frightful portrayal of the supposed "pangs of death" or of the sufferings which some believe the soul must endure after dissolution it is rare indeed that the last days or hours of life are passed in dread.

Most sick persons are very, very tired. Sleep—long, quiet sleep—is what they want. I have seen many people die. I have never seen one who seemed to fear death, except when it was or seemed to be rather far away. Even those who are constantly haunted while strong and well with a dread of the end of life forget their fear when that end is at hand.—Scribner's Magazine.

Sincere by Nature.

The physician has methods by which he determines whether or not a patient is shamming. Other people have different methods, which may sometimes be as successful as the doctor's.

"Do you believe that was a real faint of Sally Ann's, or do you think she just shammed so's to look interesting to Willy Lane and make him offer to take her home in his buggy?" asked one of the participants in a recent picnic.

"It wa'n't any sham on Sally Ann's part," said Mrs. Ricketts, to whom the appeal was made. "I should think when you know Sally Ann wears sixes and that she lay there with her feet sticking right straight up for everybody to see for nearly fifteen minutes you'd realize that 'twasn't any make believe faint."

Every Bit as Good.

"Have you a belt that will go about my waist?" asked the young lady with a smile as she entered the dry goods store.

"No, but I have something just as good," replied the young man who formerly worked in a drug store.—Yonkers Statesman.

Keep A-Goin'

If you strike a thorn or rose,
Keep a-going'!
If it hails, or if it snows,
Keep a-going'!
'Taint no use to sit an' whine
When the fish ain't on your line,
Bait your hook and keep on tryin,'
Keep a-going'!
When it looks like all is up,
Keep a-goin'!
Drain the sweetness from the cup,
Keep a-goin'!
See the wild birds on the wing,
Hear the bells that sweetly ring,
If you feel like singin', sing!
Keep a-goin'!

The Dignity of Manual Labor

With the beginning of the new year comes the thought—what does the future hold in store for the young man of to-day? Are his opportunities as great as our forefathers had one hundred years ago? What hope has the young man? What avenues are open to him? These are questions that fond parents are thinking seriously of as they watch the progress of the curly haired boy. The youth of 100 years ago, while he had not educational advantages of the boy of the 20th century, had a little world of undeveloped territory before him. There was little or no competition and each boy had a field to himself to explore. The 20th century lad has a world of competition before him in any vocation he may enter. Everybody is living at a breakneck speed. Life is so short and the fields of research so wide and long that one can only look in each open door, and the person who hopes to win a degree of excellence must confine his attention to some one channel thot. This is an age of specialties. The young man of the future must have an object and an aim in view and must lose no time in getting at it. If he labors hard there is a field for him. If he wishes success, progress and prosperity there is but one road for him and that is labor.

The trouble with the 20th century young men is that they do not understand the dignity of manual labor. They do not realize that honors and fortune may be more readily realized outside of the so-called professions than in them, and that it is just as honorable to swing the hammer or to hold a plow as it is to make a speech in court or amputate a limb. The lesson that young men should be taught as early as possible is that it is not so much what a man does for a living as it is how well he does it, and that manual labor is as honorable as any other. Why, if every "society blood" in the United States, every member of the military, and every man in the public service would only work occasionally the country would be all right. If each of the above named would make a horse shoe nail a day during the entire year there would be enough revenue produced to run the American army in the Philippines for a month—the Filipinos would run it the rest of the year.

The tendency of modern education is to overcrowd the professions with men and swell the art galleries with women. Institutions have been stuffed with the fond hopes of doting parents till they belch forth graduates of high and low degree in swarms to buzz about for cushioned chairs and writing materials with which to carve out an aesthetic livelihood. With a sheep skin in pocket, a professor's good wishes, education finished and a father's earnings to draw upon the youth is esteemed ready for the battle of life. The upper story of our city's great business houses are filled to overflowing with attorneys without a client, whose mothers sit up at night patching their shirts, and with doctors, whom a man of sense would not call to see his dog unless the canine be an egg sucker to be gotten rid of in haste. The idea seems to be—fit the boy for a "profession" and the girl for 'society", so that she can marry some foreign scoundrel with a title.

Parents have the wrong ideas up before their children too long. There is too much "cod fish aristocracy" among what is known as the "upper class." The idea of rearing a child with no other thot for its future than it may enter "society" is revolting to the man or woman of sense. If you want to find vice rampant in the world of to-day, don't look among the middle class, but look in the upper crust of "society". It is surely a high ideal for a mother to rear a daughter "just so" in order that she may travel with a rapid set, learn to dance, drink wine with the "upper class" of young men who never earn a cent and subsist only thru the generosity of doting parents who furnish them "spending money."

Yes, there is an oppertunity for the right kind of young men and young women to-day, but they must not be afraid to work. There is always room at the front. Press onward. Leaders are few, followers many. Opportunity passes the door daily. Young people, think what you ought to do, choose that which you like best to do, the vocation you will serve and honor—exercise every faculty, use every legitimate agency to win your way to the front and you will succeed. Many business concerns are looking for wide awake young men who are willing to work, and at the same time allow the proprietor know a thing or two.

Young man, begin the year aright.. Keep the proper ideals before you. Be patient and persevering; never take a back track: Keep a climbing and you will get there.

Four things come not back—the spoken word, the sped arrow, the past life and the neglected opportunity.

It is presumed that a good many turned over a new leaf last Monday. That's all right, but don't take a review too often.

The Dispatch wishes its many readers, delinquents and all, a happy and prosperous year.

The right way to begin the new year is to susbscribe for the Dispatch.

POTTER VALLEY HAPPENINGS

Potter Valley, Januy. 8th—Miss Elizabeth Hamm who is a student at Berkeley University is spending the mid-winter vacation with her parents.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert English, (nee Busch) of Redwood Valley are visiting the latter's parents and other relatives here. It is good to have them in our midst again.

Mrs. Charles Neil has been quite ill the past week but is now convalescent.

N. P. Howe is enjoying a visit from his wife, son and daughter of Berkeley.

The friends of David Coble are taking much interest in his course at present and are agreed that Cupid has charge of his ways and is leading him straight to Hymen's alter.

Miss Mabel Busch of Ukiah visited relatives and friends here last week and attended the Forester's banquet.

Mae Donohoo who has been visiting relatives in Oakland for some months returned home this week.

Society in Potter enjoyed one of its happiest occasions last Saturday evening when the A. O. F. gave their annual banquet and dance. About seventy-five invitations were issued and eagerly responded to. Grange Hall, the scene of festivity, was made most inviting by a profusion of ferns decorating walls and artistically arranged in various other devices. Dancing was indulged in for a time when the gay company repaired to the dining room at the Hotel Hill where the scene that lay about and before them would certainly satisfy every desire of the most fastidious epicure.

The dining room was transformed by decorations of ferns, holly and mistletoe into a place of beauty. The tables were burdened by all that makes up a delicious banquet and the praises they called forth must have been very gratifying to Mr. and Mrs. Hill. The guests lingered long, enjoying all to the fullest extent, engaging in gay repartee, and drinking many felicitious toasts. Those who sat at the last table felt they had a little the best enjoyment the evening afforded. For particulars inquire of the gentlemen who formed part of that company. The ladies are jealous and won't tell.

May the Foresters live long and banquet often. YOU AND I.

HEALEY, TIBBITTS CO. WILL BE SUED

Last Friday the board of supervisors by a unanimous vote instructed the District Attorney to begin suit against Healey, Tibbits Company for damages caused the county by their faulty work in repairing the Eel River bridge last year. The work was done so poorly that it had to be done over this year at a cost of over $4,000, according to Supervisor Fairbanks' figures. The suit will be brought to receive this amount.

A few weeks ago the Republican newspapers of this congressional district were proclaiming that Congressman McKinlay had broken the Chinese boycott. Now a San Francisco dispatch published in the Marysville Appeal declares that "according to Captain Baker of the Raleigh, special commissioner to China for the purpose of studying the boycott, we must either open our doors to all the Chinese, coolies included, who may desire to come here, or else we must reconcile ourselves to relinquish the Chinese trade. The captain says that not only is the boycott on with full vigor, but it is growing."—Woodland Democrat.

THE SOMALI.

They Are Habitually Idle and Always Merry—Their Peculiar Headdress.

By nature Somali are alternately docile and savage, nearly always merry and habitually idle. Even in busy Aden they work as little as possible and then do no manual work, for their inherent pride forbids that. Cab driving, boat manning and grooming are the general crafts of the Aden Somali. In the interior of his own country his principal occupations are plundering and cattle lifting, at which latter pursuit he is said to be unparalleled in skill. In religion they are all Mohammedans.

The great peculiarity of the Somali is, however, his hair, for, contrary to the custom of most races professing Islam, he does not shave his head, but allows his locks to run wild. Nor is his hair the wool of the negro, for instead of growing in one dense cluster all over his head, as is the case of the Galla, for instance, it tangles into long cords, not unlike those of a poodle, which, parted over his forehead, hangs down on both cheeks, often projecting almost as far as his shoulders.

Not content with the show of hair that nature and neglect insure him, he plasters his head with a peculiar light clay, which has the effect of bleaching its blackness to a light reddish hue, and a Somali in a new tobe, as their winding sheet of a garment is called, and a freshly clayed head is the very acme of dandyism.

LEGAL PHRASEOLOGY.

What Some of the Terms Common to Court Practice Mean.

To most persons the phrase "This indenture witnesseth" is as much Greek as the other common phrase "Witness my hand and seal." Yet both are relics of a time when these legal forms carried with them a significance not obtaining at present.

Legal documents were once engrossed upon parchment because paper cost so much more than dressed skin. The parchment was seldom trimmed exactly and the top was scalloped with the knife; hence the term "This indenture." Even where the lawyers have departed from the custom, still obtaining in England, of using parchment for their legal forms the phrase has been retained.

In the same way the signature of "hand and seal" is a relic of those olden times when only clerks and the clergy could wield the pen. It was the custom for the contracting parties to lay their hands upon the document in token of good faith, and there remained a smudge. As these original thumb marks were not easily identified, the gentry added their seals for the purpose of further establishing the validity of the document. It may not be generally known that a seal is still required in law, though the need for it passed with the spread of education, and the bit of red paper affixed by the lawyer is as necessary as the signature to certain documents.

A court of law is a reminiscence of the time when justice sat in the open courtyard, and the "dock" is from a German word meaning a receptacle, while the "bar" is a Welsh word meaning a branch of a tree used to separate the lords of justice from their vassals.

The entire phraseology of the bench is reminiscent of the earlier days, but having been proved proper, has been retained.—New York Herald.

JAPANESE PAGODAS.

Earthquake Proof and Able to Stand the Severest Shock.

The absence of buildings of any size and antiquity in Japan is ascribed to the destruction of them by the frequent earthquakes which occur. The only structures which seem to be earthquake proof are the pagodas which are erected before the temples. There are many pagodas which are 700 or 800 years old and as solid as when first built. There is a reason for this, and it lies in their construction. A pagoda is practically a framework of heavy timbers which starts from a wide base and is in itself a substantial structure, but it is rendered still more stable by a peculiar device. Inside the framework and suspended from the apex is a long, heavy balk of timber two feet thick or more. This hangs from one end, and to the other end are bolted at each of the four sides four more heavy timbers, and if the pagoda be very lofty still more timbers are added on to these. The whole forms an enormous pendulum which reaches to within six inches of the ground. When the shock of an earthquake rocks the pagoda the pendulum swings in unison and keeps the center of gravity always at the base of the framework. Consequently the equilibrium of the pagoda is never disturbed, and this is the explanation of the great age of many of them, when from their height one would suppose them to be peculiarly susceptible to the effect of an earthquake.

Baffled.

The word baffled now has a meaning entirely different from that applied to it 300 years ago. It is now understood to mean thwarted, foiled or disappointed, but then it was applied to the process of degradation by which a knight was disgraced. A baffled knight was one who had been pronounced guilty of conduct unbecoming one of his order and had accordingly been shorn of his plumes, his sword was broken before his eyes, his knightly robe torn away, his spurs cut off with a cleaver, and after being publicly chastised he was declared to be baffled. The word is used in this sense by Shakespeare and other writers of that time.

About Breathing.

In the ordinary respiration of man sixteen or seventeen cubic inches of atmospheric air pass into the lungs twenty times a minute, or a cubic foot every five and one-quarter minutes, 274 cubic feet in twenty-four hours. The lungs hold 2.80 cubic feet. At each respiration 1.375 of oxygen is converted into carbonic acid gas. The nitrogen inspired and expired is exactly equal. During the act of inspiration the lungs have been found to be the coldest parts of the body.

The Point of View.

"It all depends on the point of view," he said reflectively.

"What do you mean?" she asked.

"Well, by way of illustration," he answered, "there's Mrs. Jones next door, who sings all day long. Looking at it from one point of view, we say, 'Happy woman!' and from another, 'Unhappy neighbors!'"

Such Friendly Friends!

Maude—Jack Huggins has been calling on me for nearly three months. I expect a proposal soon. Clara—Oh, Jack never rushes things! It was at least five months before he proposed to me.—Chicago News.

How She Liked Him.

"Well, Maggie, you have now been married a year. How do you like your husband?"

"Sober, mum."—Houston Post.

If Satan could love he would cease to be wicked.—St. Theresa.
